

Mats Deleryd

Mats Deleryd is CEO & President at the Swedish Institute for Quality, SIQ, which is the national center for business excellence in Sweden. SIQ has the assignment to promote quality development by creating, gathering and spreading knowledge within the field of quality and business excellence.

Prior to his current position Mats has been working as a senior executive for more than 20 years within ABB, Adtranz, Daimler-Chrysler, Bombardier, Volvo Construction Equipment and AB Volvo. The primary focus in these positions has been Quality and Environmental Management and in AB Volvo, Mats was Senior Vice President Quality Development, Environmental Care & Safety.

Mats also holds a professorship in Product and Process Development within the area of Quality and Organizational Development at Mälardalen University, Sweden. He is a co-founder and member of the Swedish Quality Management Academy, elected “Academician” and member of the International Academy for Quality, IAQ and Board Chairman of EPSI Rating Ltd. EPSI Rating represents a recognized system for measuring customer- and employee satisfaction as well as organizations’ social responsibilities and managerial effectiveness.

Mats has vast experience from developing new innovative management approaches in relation to Managerial strategies, Quality Management, Environmental Management, Safety approaches, Corporate Social Responsibility and Sustainability strategies.