What Stops Us From Succeeding?

1. Not knowing specifically what we want
2. Not understanding where we are and what got us here
3. Not having a plan for change
4. Lack of accountability in execution

Guiding Personal Principles

- Do unto others as I would have them do unto me.
- Forever student; forever teacher.
- Be gentle: "Compassion, compassion, compassion." –The Dalai Lama
- Replace judgment with understanding.
- Listen from the other's perspective; speak from mine.
- Designa tuam vitam! (Choose your life!)

A person is sitting on a long, narrow pier that extends over a calm lake. The sun is rising in the sky, creating a bright glow and long shadows. The background shows a forested shoreline and a clear blue sky with a few wispy clouds. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.

"People think focus means saying yes to the thing you've got to focus on. But that's not what it means at all. It means saying no to the hundred other good ideas that there are. Innovation is saying no to 1,000 things."—Steve Jobs

5. The structure that should develop will be a 'radiant hierarchy', with ideas radiating out from your central theme and main branches.

1. Start at the centre of a blank, landscape page, ideally with a colourful image to represent your subject.

2. Use words and pictures throughout your map. Wherever possible use single KEY words, printed along a line. Each word or picture sits on its own line.

4. Experiment with different ways of linking and emphasising different aspects. Use highlighters, codes and arrows as necessary.

3. The lines make the associations between ideas as clear as possible. Make them flowing and organic, each line the same length as the word or image. Always ensure that lines connect to the end of the line at the previous level. Typically lines will be thicker at the centre and thinner further out.
